Figure 11.2 Illustration of a bit in dynamic RAM. An external refresh circuit must periodically read the data value and write it back again, or the charge will dissipate and the value will be lost.