

Figure 13.1 Illustration of an architecture in which two dissimilar memories connect to a processor. The processor can use either memory.