

- Partitionable problem
- Equivalent processor speed
- Low overhead data movement

Figure 19.6 The three key conditions that must be met for a data pipeline to perform better than the same computation on a single processor.